

About Deb DiSandro

Whether on the air, on the page or on the stage, Deb DiSandro's Slightly Off perspective is sure to leave em laughing. As a professional speaker and member of the National Speaker's Association, for the past 15 years, Deb has presented for hundreds of organizations and companies, focusing on women's events, health conferences, banking, PTA Conferences and business associations.

As a popular media guest, Deb has been interviewed on many radio and TV stations throughout the U.S. Recently, on FOX-TV in Chicago, she was twice featured as the expert Supermom. As a spokesperson for Hillshire Farm, she delivered a delicious blend of Hillshire Farm sausage and comedy while being interviewed on network television stations in Florida and Ohio markets.

As a syndicated columnist with two humor columns, her blend of comedy and candidness has been entertaining readers for over 15 years. She is author of the humorous and insightful parenting book titled, "Tales of a Slightly Off Supermom: Fighting for Truth, Justice and Clean Underwear", Pelican 2003.

As a creative writing instructor and coach, Deb has presented at writing workshops and conferences throughout the U.S. Recent conferences include the renowned Erma Bombeck conference and the 2005 National Society of Newspaper Columnist's Convention. As a personal coach she has helped many professional and aspiring writers reach their career goals with her one-on-one coaching and goal-setting programs.

Get weekly columns and more at www.slightlyoff.com